

U.S.–India FAST FACTS

$100 billion

US-India Bilateral trade in goods and services has increased almost five-fold in the last decade, from $18 billion in 2001 to nearly $90 billion in 2011, and is on track to reach $100 billion this year.

$10 million

The Obama-Singh 21st Century Knowledge Initiative, for which the two governments have together pledged $10 million over the next five years, supports partnerships and junior faculty development between U.S. and Indian higher education institutions in priority fields to strengthen teaching, research, and administration. The first awards will be announced at the 2012 Higher Education Dialogue on June 12.

330

The Fulbright-Nehru program, a partnership between our two governments, has nearly tripled in the last three years, with more than 330 students and scholars from the United States and India participating annually making it the largest Fulbright faculty exchange in the world.

670,000

U.S. Embassy and consulates in India processed more than 670,000 nonimmigrant visas last fiscal year, the fourth highest among U.S. missions around the world.

104,000

Student visa applications increased by 18% between fiscal year 2011 and fiscal year 2010, to a total of nearly 47,000 in 2011. During the 2010-2011 academic year, nearly 104,000 Indian students studied in the U.S.

$114 million

India in January marked one year since its last-recorded polio case. Since 1999, the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention has provided direct technical support and more than $114 million to India for polio eradication and other activities, with USAID providing an additional $77.5 million since 1996.

11,000

The Indo-U.S. Science & Technology Forum (IUSSTF), along with its U.S. counterpart the India Science and Technology Partnership (INSTP), has facilitated travel of more than 11,000 scientists between the United States and India, and established 24 virtual joint research centers.

$100 million

India contributed $100 million to Caltech's Thirty-Meter Telescope Project on top of Mauna Kea, in Hawaii – the strongest telescope in the world.

$250 Million

In March, OPIC approved $250 million in financing to help India's Infrastructure Development Finance Company expand its lending to renewable energy and infrastructure projects, providing much-needed long-term capital. The Export-Import Bank has also financed $75 million worth of solar power generating projects in India.

$27 Billion

Foreign Direct Investment (FDI) into India from the U.S. reached $27 billion in 2010, and in recent years, India has been among the fastest-growing sources of inward investment into the U.S., with $3.3 billion from India in 2010, supporting thousands of new U.S. jobs.

